Bank of Hours: (Beyond the First Phase)

We operate on a 'bank of hours' system for this engagement, which means that we would allocate hours upfront for the project. These hours are drawn upon as we progress through the engagement. This approach helps ensure that we manage our time and resources efficiently while maintaining the quality of our work.

It also provides a clear structure for both parties, as it allows us to monitor the effort being invested and adjust as necessary to meet the project's goals. By having this bank of hours, we can protect ourselves from overextending our resources while ensuring that all necessary work is completed within the agreed scope. Any hours beyond the agreed scope will be billed at our standard hourly rate. We'll notify you in advance if additional time is needed, ensuring full transparency and alignment throughout the project.

Flying Horse Resort will receive continued communication throughout the engagement:

- Progress report delivered every two weeks w/ Proposed Timeline update
- Follow up from all meetings and outcomes of discussions
- Any additional information team deems necessary
